This oil has successfully made a transition from the nutritional industry to that of the cosmetic & this is for good reason. The oil is rich in essential fatty acids & eicosenoic acid, antioxidants such as tocopherols (vitamin E) which always naturally helps in maintaining the stability of the oil. There are no limits as to what you can use this oil in, body/face/feet, there is not an area of the body this ingredient will not suit. Most of all, put your dose of the beautiful roaming fields of rural Northern England in your next formulation. |
